

Abubilla Music

LYRIC SHEET

One in a Trillion

Writing Credits: Lyrics: JA; Music: JA, AP; String Arrangements: ES, MV Performance Credits: Vocals – Andy Patterson; Backing vocals – Andy Patterson; Drums & percussion – Mike Park; Bass – Rob Skipper; Acoustic guitar – Andy Patterson; Cello – Sophie Mackinder; Violin – Mikey Vu.

Don't take this planet for granted
It's a very good rock with a very good sun
In just the right place for the rivers to run
To give me one in a trillion
One in a trillion chance to breathe with you

Gotta give our DNA its say
We've got some very good genes and opposable thumbs
To climb down from trees and write some stupid songs
To give me one in a trillion
One in a trillion chance to walk with you

I put my face to the sun
Grab a beer with my opposable thumb
Toast the gods for all the work they've done
To turn soup into fish, drive the fish to the land
To drive dinosaurs to shrews and shrews into man
And build my genes into the plan because here I am
Ready to dance with you

Gotta credit the bus for a bit of us
It had a very good crash with a very sore leg
On just the right street where I was buying some eggs
To give me one in a trillion
One in a trillion chance to dance with you

And the lights come down, and the band begins
And they pick out our song, with those soft, low strings
And you take my hand, and we start to dance
And there's no alternate outcome that ever had a chance
That I would dance with you
That I would dance with you
That I would dance with you
That I would dance with you

We are one in a trillion... we are one in a trillion